Shipping Work at Fall River.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 27.—At 6 o'clock this morning the familiar sounds of gongs, whistles and bells sounded from the different mills, the manufacturers throwing open their doors to operatives as they prepared for work, which is conducted on the ten hours system. Many of the mill owners are in doubt if they would or would not sign the agreement. Those who would not were requested to disperse, and those signing passed into the mills. Several mills did not have enough help to make it an object to start up. They are ready, however, when there are a sufficient number to make it advisable.

Three mills are running on twelve pair of mules, and about 250 looms, about one-eighth of full force before the strike.

B. Borden's mill started up with 700 looms, and with a full complement of spinners and spoolers and the carding room nearly full. About 8:30 o'clock some thousand operatives marched to this mill, making an attempt to enter the yard, but were met by the superintendent and overseer of the weaving department, whom they stoned, but were kept at bay a distance of two hours, when they dispersed. A number of weavers, who then left the mill, and it is running about 550 looms.

The Fall River Manufacturing Co.'s mill started with 200 looms and six pair of mules. The printing department is full, and there are four representatives in the other departments.

Strikers Threaten a Riot, and Military Ordered Out.

Hide, Wellaloc, Mechanics', Barnard and Granite mills had small representatives in each department, and will begin to run full time to-day. The latter having been threatened with taking of their time many withdrew, and the mill shut down. Women having several children in this mill were escorted by a mob of 500 mill operatives, who told them if the children were not taken out of the mill they would be killed when they came out, and made similar threats to operatives of Chase and other mills. As they passed Montauk mill stones were thrown at them, killing some and breaking dozens of glass. A number were also broken at Osborne mill. The operatives visited Mayor Davenport this forenoon, soliciting aid. They were informed that the mayor declined to act in this matter, as he had no authority to assist them from the city treasury. They will apply to the governor. About 11 o'clock a thousand operatives gathered in and around Music hall, on Second street, to consult on some plan of relief. The mayor attempted to address them, but failing to obtain a hearing ordered the crowd to disperse. The police, in obeying his orders to disperse the crowd, were assaulted to such an extent that they were compelled to withdraw to their quarters. The police made six arrests. The mayor has called upon Col. D. Daval, of the 3d regiment, who has notified companies B and D of this city to assemble at their quarters immediately, and also called additional companies of his regiment from neighboring cities. A large number of operatives would go to work at once could they be assured of protection. Of seventeen spinners who signed the agreement at the Troy mill, six went to work, having been threatened with violence. The operatives have less sympathy by to-day's proceedings.

The mob assailed some operatives of the Linen mills to-day. A girl was cut on the head with a stone. The police were sent to the scene and the crowd promptly dispersed. Two companies of the 3d regiment have arrived from Taunton.

The Grain Markets of Europe.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The Mark Lane Express of this morning has the following review of the corn markets for the week:

"With abundant importations, prompted by the favorable aspect and general successful gathering, the course of prices has been further downward, say from one to two shillings, and though we see no cause for immediate alarm, we think the reluctance of farmers to sell and dealers to buy will only check a further downward move. So much as winter approaches prices may mend.

France is following our decline. Paris has slowly receded one franc on flour, with a slight decline in wheat, but the provinces show little change. Spanish and general arrivals at Marseilles. The present depression is due to be attributed to imcasy expect a speedy falling off in these supplies, and some reaction in prices, because none of the main markets have been reduced in like proportion to the decline has stopped. It is much the same for Holland, while some German markets show higher rates. Those at St. Petersburg show little reduction, and as every quarter we look has been replaced in granary will be needed, it is reasonable to expect better prices will be paid as the season advances. The general average, which represent the business of a fortnight back, are higher than last year by 1s 11d, but transactions at the present time will about bring rates to a level.

The Anglo-Chinese Difficulty.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A dispatch from Shanghai to the Times says the Chinese government shows an efficient performance of the terms laid down at Tientsing, and Minister Wade will leave Pekin on October 15th, unless satisfied the settlement is conceded. The punishment of officials in Yunnan for the Margary outrage, and the publication of foreign affairs in the Gazette, are reported to be the chief difficulties in the way of a settlement.

Condition of the Insurrectionary Districts.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A Standard Vienna special has the following: A Belgrade paper reports that a bureau has been established there for forwarding false and warlike news. Only 6,000 men are under arms, and the militia only assembles twice a week. The skuptchina will soon adjourn.

The Times to-day has a special from Vienna, in which it is said a portion of the consular commission returned to Mostar. They say they are convinced that, with a few exceptions, the insurgents are ready to lay their grievances before the Turkish commissioner and negotiate, but they desire a suspension of hostilities meanwhile, and think it indispensable that the great powers guarantee certain reforms, without which pacification will be illusory. The consuls say the districts they traversed have been frightfully devastated. The population has been decimated by disease and suffering, and, unless speedily helped, the country will be ruined for many years to come.

The Pall Mall Gazette of this evening has a special telegram from Berlin, containing the following: The Turkish government has sent a memorial to the great powers, disavowing any intention of attacking the Herzegovinian states. The northern ambassadors have recommended the Porte not to pursue the insurgents into Servia and Montenegro.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Further accounts from the north show great damage has been done by the storm. At Manchester a large mill was prostrated by the gale, and the falling walls crashed into the next buildings, causing great destruction of property, but no loss of life. Many vessels broke adrift in the Firth of Forth, on Tyne, at Shields, and in the Mersey, and casualties are numerous. Eight of the crew of the Southard were drowned by capsizing of the life-boat which went to their aid. Four of the pilot-boat's crew were lost. The damage by the storm in Liverpool is immense. Nearly every building in the city suffered some injury.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 27.—The great powers have most earnestly exhorted the Porte and Servian government to avoid any precipitate act.

A special to the Times from Vienna says that nothing is known in the best informed circles of any ultimatum from Turkey to Servia.

BELGRADE, Sept. 27.—All public functionaries, except the chiefs of departments, have been notified that they are liable to be called on for military service, and must hold themselves in readiness. The newspapers announce that the ministers of war has returned from Kragujevatz, and has made a requisition for a thousand horses. They say the Landwehr cavalry in the district of Belgrade have received orders to proceed to the frontier.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 27.—The consuls of Germany, Austria and Italy are in daily conference. In view of failure of attempts to arrange a conference with the insurgents, the representatives of the northern powers resolved to request the consuls to confer with Server Pasha, in order to suggest a practicable solution of the question. The French ambassador declared his adhesion to this proposal on strict condition of non-intervention. The British and Italian ambassadors also declared their opinion that the mission of the consuls was ended, but they promised to apply to their respective governments for further instructions.

What the Herzegovinians will Demand.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The reforms which the insurgents of Herzegovina will demand if a conference should be called, are a limitation of taxation, the admission of evidence of christians by the tribunals and selection of police forces from the inhabitants.

B., for Liverpool, was lost to-day on the Lancashire coast, between Formby and Crosby, not more than 20 miles from Liverpool. The cargo is a total loss. One of the life-boats which went to the assistance of the ship afterwards capsized and, nine of the crew were drowned. The gale last night was very damaging both of sea and on land. CURIOUS QUESTION OF IDENTITY.

A CASE SIMILAR TO THE TICHBORNE AFFAIR.

In 1840 John Hancock, a resident of this city, left a will, bequeathing specific legacies to three nieces and a nephew, and all the residue of his property to another nephew, Stephen Marshall, brother of the other legatees. Before the property left to Stephen was sold, which was not till 1859, it had risen in value so as to be worth $15,000, which was more than the value of all the other legacies combined. In 1852, Stephen disappeared from this city, and nothing relating to him was heard of until recently, when one of his sisters, in using efforts to find him, wrote to San Francisco, and received a reply that a man of his name was living at Shoal Water Bay, Washington Territory. She wrote to this man and received in reply a letter to the effect that he did not care for his relations here, being well satisfied to remain with a half-breed wife and children whom he had there. The letter was signed "Steven Marshal." News afterwards came that this man was dead. The half-breed wife then claimed the property on the ground that her husband was the Stephen Marshall to whom it had been bequeathed. The other legatees contested the claim, denying that the claimant's husband was their brother. A commissioner was authorized to take testimony in Washington Territory as to the question of identity, and evidence was given showing that the husband of the claimant had red hair and a freckled face, while the other legatees asserted that their brother had a dark hair and a clear skin, could write well, and would not have made the mistake of misspelling both of his names. The matter came on for hearing before Surrogate Hutchings, yesterday, ex Surrogate Gideon J. Tucker appearing for the claimant, Ira D. Warren for the sisters and the brother of the last legatee. The Surrogate reserved his decision.—N. Y. Times, September 10th.

The Plaindealer says there is trouble brewing in Oakland over a thousand dollars. It appears $2,000 was expressed from below for Mr. Ed. Young, of Oakland, but when they came to deliver it up some one had performed a sleight-of-hand trick, and presto! there was only $1,000 instead.

A party who recently traveled extensively through the lower end of Marion county, and in Yamhill and Washington counties, reports to the Statesman that farmers are busy hauling in their wheat, but there appears to be none selling—in fact, it seems as if things have come to a dead-lock at present, the buyers in that vicinity evidently waiting to see if it will not touch lower figures, and farmers holding on confident it will command a better price.

From the Plaindealer we learn that Mr. Jas. Yarbrough, a young man who has been working at Clark's mill, in Cole's valley, for some time, on Sept. 21st had occasion to turn a log to prepare it for the saw. He took the rope that runs on a bull wheel, which is used for that purpose, and went over by the log, and, in so doing, the rope got between the upper and lower saws. The lower saw was running at the time, and he, to clear the rope, stepped up near the saw, and was drawing it out when the under saw caught it, and jerked him upon the saw. It struck him upon the leg below the knee-cap, when it gave a bound, caught him in the thigh, and tore it almost entirely away; it then caught him near the middle, sawed through the intestines, cutting them in six different places, tore away a portion of the hip bone or ilium, and cut entirely through to the back bone.

THE COQUILLE.

DORA, Ogn., Sept. 16, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Central Pacific R. R. Co., having bought out the entire interest of the Coos Bay Wagon Road Co., is using every inducement to secure the settlement of the country through which this road runs. By provision of the act according to which this road was constructed, that corporation is entitled to every odd section. The alternate sections are school land. Two government surveying parties have been at work sectionizing during the summer and fall. Two-thirds of this land is so mountainous that, although special appropriations were made by congress for public surveys in this and other parts of the coast range some ten or twelve years ago, surveyors refused contracts at the former mileage price.

The Coquille country is not a valley, but rather a series of mountains and flats. It is the salubrious climate of the former and the productiveness of the latter that render this locality so desirable for settlers. The greater part of the settlers on the

MIDDLE AND NORTH FORK

Have been here but little over three years. One large neighborhood at the junction of those streams came in at one immigration four years ago, and have made surprising progress in opening up the country. The buildings are mostly of hewed logs, neatly battened with clapboards. A few more pretentious dwellings are oeiled and floored with lumber split out and dressed by hand. There being no sawmill nearer than Coos bay, all building material is prepared with the ax; some quite respectable specimens of architecture are the result. The neighbors unite and erect buildings for church and school purposes, which fact alone bespeaks the character of the people.

Claims are all chosen with reference to their position along the Coquille river and its three main branches. The bottom lands, varying in width from one-fourth to three-fourths of a mile, are, in their original state, covered with myrtles. They are under water during the winter. A soil is thereby created equal in fertility to any on the coast. We have seen finer vegetables in point of size at least, raised here this season than we have noticed in either the Wallamet or Umpqua valley. Grain and melons are late ripening by reason of their not having yet been acclimated.

The mountains back of these flats haven't a perceptible redeeming feature. Bluffs, crags, perpendicular cliffs, deep canyons, and where it is not too deep, dense vegetation, the ground is covered with chaparal, greaswood, "devils walking-stick," interwoven with wild grape matted together and consolidated with poison ivy in such a manner as to render it simply a matter of choice whether to climb up and make our way on top, or drill a hole through. Notwithstanding the rough aspect of these mountain sides,

VAST LANDS OF ELK

Here abound. We often come within easy rifle range of groups of these animals, but not being of the gunning fraternity, consequently not armed with anything except revolvers, we have not yet captured any. The males will, with their massive antlers laid on each side of the back, the nose within six inches of the ground, dash off over the rocks making a noise resembling that of a huge boulder rolling down a steep, and I might add, one whose mind is in discretion as to their course, for it is an actual fact that if closely pursued they will leap from precipices fifty feet in height, of course killing them instantly. In places less precipitous, we encounter quite a number of black bear. We attacked two of these one day, whereupon one climbed a tree. One of the party fired at him five times; when he (the bear) began to descend tail foremost. We surrounded the tree with the intention of catching him as he let go all holds and dropped down among us, but were soon convinced that a pet bear chained to a post, as we were accustomed to see them, and a wild one standing on his hind legs, snapping and slapping his paws about in a business-like manner, were two different things, so we let him retire. This little episode doubtless gave rise to the report in several of the valley papers that our company was attacked by "two grizzlies." The more open spots are literally alive with deer. But for all there is such an abundance of game here, it is but seldom hunted. The settlers themselves will not hunt it unless placed in the position of the boy with the woodchuck—out of meat. A deer came within easy range of our camp one morning, he lasted us three days. In some of the deep gulches we find tolerable specimens of

GOLD BEARING QUARTZ,

Some of which greatly resembles that taken from the Bonid & Curry vein. These canyons apart from those adjacent to the main Coquille have never been prospected very thoroughly.

The citizens of this part of Coos county are united in their efforts to secure congressional aid for the improvement of the Coquille and its main forks. The impossibility of ever having good roads the year round leaves this their only hope of a practicable outlet for their produce.

We will be through with our work about the middle of October. It is getting monotonous, and, sworn as we are to follow bee lines north, south, east and west, according to the dictates of a solar compass is attended with no little danger.

The Puget Sound country has not enjoyed a more prosperous season than the present for many years.

One hundred and six thousand bushels of charcoal have just been delivered at South Mountain, Idaho.

Gen. Crook hasn't had a fight with the Indians for a fortnight, and he says that affairs have got to change or he will resign.

It is now announced that Spotted Tail won't consent to sell the Black Hills country. He's rather mortgage it on long time at ten per cent.

Young hoppers are hatching out by the millions on the Madison and Stinkingwater. They will hardly grow big enough to lay eggs before they are killed by the frosts of fall.

A Mormon bishop was holding forth to the saints quite recently, and wishing to point a moral, he asked what was the present population of the United States. A disciple answered that there might be a matter of forty million, gentiles. "Six-fourths of all these people," said the lofty preacher, "are living in vice and ignorance." But what's the odds? we inquire. The remaining six-fourths of the population are willing to labor for their support.

The Olympia Transcript says: "Mr. H. E. Howe, deputy surveyor, and party, returned from the Satsop, where they have been surveying government lands during the past summer, having completed the contracts. They found a large bottom of excellent land that fifteen or twenty miles up the stream, and about the same distance west from the Sound, and stretching to the foothills of the coast range, containing at least five thousand acres."

All the mechanics in Olympia have more work on hand than they can attend to, and there is not an idle one in town. Carpenters are all engaged, putting up new buildings and improving others. The merchants have been doing a lively business of late, and several firms have found it necessary to hire additional assistance. The boot and shoe manufacturers are overrun with orders, some of which they have been unable to fill on account of not being able to obtain the required help. All the hotels have a large run of customers, and some of them are overflowing with boarders.

It is a pleasant thing to see roses and lilies growing upon a young lady's cheek, but a bad sight to see a man's face break out in blossoms.

WASHINGTON COUNTY FAIR.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HILLSBORO, Sept. 27, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

You ought to have Mark Twain, the Danbury News man, and half-a-dozen others of like powers here to make a good report of the proceedings, or rather lack of proceedings, of this first day of the fair. I suppose the fact is that by long usage the rule has obtained, that no one shall come to the first day's fair but those who have business, and, in fact, they seem to wish they could have waited till to-morrow. This waiting till to-morrow seems to be the safety valve which saves the sanity of the entire community. The keepers of soda fountains, with their ice fast melting into warm water, say "wait till to-morrow and there will be a crowd." The restaurant keepers, the venders of peanuts, the criers for great moral shows, swing men and horse men, hack men and men of no particular business, all console themselves with the cheering thought of what the morrow will bring forth. Even the few of the fair sex who bravely grace the scene look forward to the pleasant scenes of to-morrow with serenest confidence, and find no fault with the fair of to-day, "because it is the first day you know." Let us hope their faith is well founded, for certainly the managers of the society deserve success for the spirit with which they have prepared for the occasion. The premiums are liberal, higher indeed than has been the rate at the state fair on several occasions, and no pains have been spared to make everything pleasant for visitors as well as exhibitors.

THE FIRST ARRIVALS

Came by the special train from Portland, which reached Hillsboro at about a quarter to 9, and, debarking its passengers, backed down to Reed's to make way for the down train, which came in a few minutes later. The passengers by these two trains and residents of this vicinity make up the sum of visitors today, and these have found but little to do but view

THE RACES.

The first of which was a single dash of a mile, free for all. William Bigham entered ch. f. Foster; W. T. White entered br. g. Norway. These horses are both too well known in Oregon to need any elaborate description, further than to say that Norway was in the most perfect condition, while Foster looked the beauty that he is.

The horses got off well at the first attempt, Norway having the pole; this advantage gave him a length when they reached the back stretch, which was very heavy, and here Foster lapped him, and showed him his heels at the half in 58 seconds. The brown kept close in till the home was reached, and then gave an exhibition of good running, gaining on the chestnut at every jump, but passed the stand a half length too far back, Foster winning the race in 1:53½.

A TROTTING RACE

For three-year olds was immediately announced, and for this two Vancouver animals were entered: ch. h. McFarlan by I. Froebstel, and g. m. Bell Hornett by J. Kelly. These were both good animals but badly trained, so much so as to spoil what was to have been a good race. McFadden won the choice of tracks, and they started as even as they could have been placed, but the horse broke badly at the sound of the drum, and before he got his gray gait was well ahead; on the back stretch the chestnut worked hard and got ahead a length, which the gray made up on the home, but lacked a neck of being up with McFadden, who won the heat in 3:42.

The next heat was another specimen of poor driving, first one horse breaking up and going to the bad and then the other. The gray kept losing at every break and gaining when at work, but the chestnut did a little less poorly and won the heat and race in 3:37.

"A walking match," so-called, came off next in which T. B. Hoover walked his Billy around, accompanied by Bill Tomkins who kept him company for a little while, and followed around the track, arriving early enough in the evening to learn that he could not take the second money.

TO-MORROW

We are to have a good programme, the main feature being a mile and repeat, free to all, for $150 first and $75 second money.

Entries are not completed and will not be until noon to-morrow, so it is impossible to speak of other stock as on exhibition, though sheep promise to be very well represented. In the pavilion things come in slowly. There is a very fine set of Oregon furniture, by Smith & Buxton, of Forest Grove, some few large vegetables and some small ones, a very fine lot of flowers, by J. R. Pater, and not much more besides.

At this hour, 4 P. M., campers are beginning to come in, and every one says we will see a good crowd to-morrow. So be it. The gates show an increase for the first day over that of last year.

FOR CONTRACTION OR EXPANSION—WHICH?

[From the Pittsburgh Leader.]

Now that we have had their latest deliverance on the question, it appears, bringing the two testimonies of last year and this together, that the Democrats of Pennsylvania are

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 28, 1875.

SOME SPECIMEN FACTS.

What has Secretary Delano done or neglected to do, asks a correspondent, that the press of the country is so unanimously unfriendly to him? The question is a very proper one, and unless some satisfactory answer can be given, the case of Mr. Delano must stand as an instance in which a vicious press has worked up public sentiment against a blameless public servant until he has been driven into retirement, than which a greater wrong could hardly be done an individual.

Mr. Delano, so far as we are aware, has not been charged by any responsible person with participating in any corrupt transaction for the purpose of pecuniary gain to himself. That is to be set down to his credit. But he has, if witnesses of the highest moral standing are to be believed, been cognizant of the grossest frauds upon the government and the most flagrant violations of law among the subordinates of his department of the public service, and has lent his support to those frauds and violations of law in numerous cases. To detail all these, or half of them, would require more space than we can give the subject, but we shall instance one or two which will serve as samples of his method of dealing with such matters. Mr. William Welsh, of Philadelphia, lately one of the Board of Indian Commissioners, and a man whose character for veracity has never been impeached, in a recent letter to Prof. O. C. Marsh, testifies as follows:

On the 7th day of December, 1870, about a month after the Hon. Columbus Delano entered upon the office of secretary of the interior, I made a written report to him of a visit to certain Indian reservations on the Missouri, under the care of a missionary organization that I then represented. A copy of that report is on file in the interior department, and it can be seen on page 3 of house of representatives' report, No. 39, Forty-first congress, third session. The frauds distinctly revealed in that report were investigated by a committee of the house of representatives, and were fully proved, as can be seen in the congressional report just referred to. They were perpetrated by J. W. Bosler and certain colleagues, among whom, it appeared from evidence given, De Witt Clinton Wheeler, of Buckley, Welling & Co., of New York, was the leading spirit. The estimate then made of profits by J. W. Bosler and his associates was $501,099, comprising beef, $209,693; flour, salt, etc., under contract of July, $50,622, and $36,650 for that of August, with $114,104 profit on freight up the Missouri, etc. With the help of Vincent Collyer, one of the board of Indian commissioners, I had copied from the books and vouchers in the second auditor's office and in the Indian office, evidences of these frauds to prevent the destruction of convicting testimony, and we then conferred freely with Secretary Delano. The details can be seen in a pamphlet then published by me, entitled

"SUMMING UP OF EVIDENCE

Before a committee of the house of representatives." This pamphlet, as well as the detailed report of the committee, was furnished to the Hon. Columbus Delano. By reference to my pamphlet, pages 57 and 58, it will be seen that I procured Mr. Delano's signature to a certified copy of the contract made with J. W. Bosler by General Parker, the then commissioner of Indian affairs, privately and without competition, therefore illegally and tainted with a suspicion of fraud. In this contract J. W. Bosler agreed to deliver beef, "American cattle," at 6¾ cents per pound gross, whereas he was allowed to deliver what, in contradistinction to American cattle, is termed Texas cattle, then worth 3¾ cents per pound gross. This fact was brought to the notice of Secretary Delano. Mr. Bosler's estimate of the value of Texas cattle is shown by the following occurrence: On the 27th day of August, 1870, an advertisement was inserted asking bids before September 12. On that morning a telegram was received from J. W. Bosler and J. A. Morrow, reducing their bid for beef from 3 90 per 100 pounds to $3 88, and their bid for bacon one fourth of a cent a pound, thus releasing their sureties for the higher bid. This bid had no legal value, because unaccompanied by sureties. Still the contract was awarded to J. W. Bosler and J. A. Morrow, who had bought off the only bidder below them, and this was allowed by the Indian office instead of compelling the low bidder to fulfill his contract. This gives Bosler's status in the Indian department, and his estimate of the value of beef of a higher grade than that he was then delivering under the other contract, and with more stringent conditions, because he was compelled to keep the cattle at his own expense and risk, and deliver them as needed; whereas the cattle delivered under the private and fraudlent contract were to be received at once by the agents, and herded at the risk and expense of the Indians. Mr. Delano had thorough knowledge of this fraud and of others by the same man in the weight of cattle, as certified to by an Indian agent, yet he did not demand the dismissal of Gen. Parker, and the defrauder was not handed over to the department of justice; no claim was made upon him for this money so fraudulently obtained, and he was not even driven from the office, but, on the contrary, has been the favored contractor from that day to this.

Another rascally transaction is brought home to the knowledge of Mr. Delano in this paragraph of the same witness' testimony:

The frauds in freight by McCann were fully known to Secretary Delano, and I informed him of contracts for machinery given by Indian Commissioner Smith to Mr. John L. Delano, his son. These contracts were given privately, without notice to the Board of Indian Commissioners, and therefore illegally, and tainted with fraud. This machinery was of course made in Ohio, and instead of being sent direct to Sioux City it went up to Minnesota and then down again to the Missouri river. Of course the father seemed very much surprised when I announced them to him; but when the fact was proven he did not dismiss his son from the office of secretary, neither did he dismiss the Rev. E. P. Smith from the office of commissioner of Indian affairs. The latter gentleman made contracts to a very large extent with A. H. Wilder, of Minnesota, without competition, without advertising, and without notice to the board of Indian commissioners, therefore violating the laws of the United States. This was brought to the knowledge of Secretary Delano without decreasing his interest in Indian Commissioner Smith or in A. H. Wilder. I will now refer to one of these very contracts, in which authority was given to Mr. Wilder to purchase cattle without any limit as to price. A blank voucher was given to the agent of A. H. Wilder and filled up in the Indian office by consent of Indian Commissioner Smith, without notice to the Board of Indian Commissioners. Their examining officer, perceiving the difference in the writing between the certificate and the price, sent it to me for examination. Having knowledge of its character, I returned it, with the following letter, which, it subsequently appeared, was sent by Mr. Stuart to Secretary Delano as a confirmation of his rejection of the voucher:

Hon. George H. Stewart, Chairman Executive Committee—DEAR SIR: I have examined the vouchers that you sent me for my inspection as chairman of a committee raised by the missionary association that nominated the agents whose vouchers are under consideration. That signed by Charles F. Birkett, agent for the Ponca Indians, is fraudulent, and should be sent to the department of justice in Washington. It appears that Agent Birkett was induced to sign a voucher without filling up the prices, leaving that to the person with whom the commissioner of Indian affairs had privately bargained to furnish certain supplies.

The prices were filled up by A. H. Wilder and by him presented for payment. Agent Birkett certifies that he had purchased in open market these articles, according to personal directions of the honorable commissioner of Indian affairs. This is untrue, as was known by the Indian agent and by A. H. Wilder; and the commissioner of Indian affairs knows that the articles were not purchased by Agent Birkett and that he did not affix the prices. The agent does not certify the quality or the value of the articles. If parties procuring or presenting such a fraudulent voucher are not immediately prosecuted it will be impossible to protect the Indian service from frauds that have so long been connected with it. Yours truly, WILLIAM WELSH.

Instead of prosecuting Wilder, Mr. Delano sent to him the letter of Commissioner Welsh and Wilder made it the basis of a libel suit against the writer. The suit, however, was never tried. Welsh, so far from retracting the charge, as doubtless it was supposed he would do, publicly reiterated it and challenged the fraudulent contrator to the investigation, but the investigation never came. The challenge has been repeated over and over again, each time with a fresh assertion that the accusation was and is true, and that Wilder dares not go on the witness stand in contradiction of it. But the case is discontinued by Wilder.

The instances of this sort of conniving at rascality in the administration of the Indian bureau would fill a volume, and they do not rest on the evidence of Mr. Welsh alone, though that would be fully sufficient. Samuel Walker, another of the commissioners, makes disclosures equally damaging to Mr. Delano and the men he has been holding up with his official position; and there are other witnesses to other cases of a similar nature. It will thus be seen that the criticisms of the press are justified by the facts, and instead of an honest but much abused man, the retiring Secretary has richly deserved every blow he has received. He is driven out of office not too soon, but five years later than he should have gone.

"THE OPPOSITION CANDIDATES TO WARREN."

The Evening Journal seems to lose its discretion in its zeal for Mr. Lane. Yesterday evening it let out a little secret—an open secret already, however, to an intelligent people—when it opened one of its attacks upon Hon. Henry Warren with the statement that "the opposition candidates to Warren are making it lively on the stump" for him. So Mr. Lane's organ here confesses that all the other candidates are regarded by the Bourbons merely as "opposition candidates to Warren." That is exactly what they are in effect, though probably they would hardly admit it, even to themselves. If Mr. Lane were the superior of Mr. Warren in respect of any qualification necessary for a representative in Congress, the Independent and Temperance parties would be entirely justified in running candidates for the purpose of electing Lane. For it is as much a duty to defeat the worst man as to elect the best one. But it can not be truthfully asserted that Lane possesses superior qualifications with Warren to represent the people of Oregon. On the contrary, in all those qualifications for which the Independent and Temperance voters have contended heretofore, Warren fills the bill much better than Lane. But still they have each in the field, an "opposition candidate to Warren."

The last number of the Astorian contains a letter from Capt. Flavel in reply to the letter of Mr. William Reid on the subject of "Towage and Pilotage on the Columbia Bar," which appeared in the OREGONIAN of the 17th instant. Capt. Flavel's letter was sent to this paper, but we declined to publish it unless certain passages of a grossly personal character should be left out. Capt. Flavel was unwilling to have the letter published without those passages, and the result is his appearance in the columns of his own paper. Capt. Flavel certainly has the right to be heard in the premises, and if he had not chosen to treat the matter as a personal quarrel rather than as the discussion of a subject of interest to the public, we should gladly have given him the opportunity to be heard through the OREGONIAN. But Mr. Reid's letter gave no provocation for personal abuse; and certainly the subject is one which Mr. Reid, or any other person interested in Oregon shipping, might with great propriety discuss through the public journals.

In commenting on the attitude in which the managers of the Democratic convention placed the party toward the public school question the OREGONIAN, among other papers that oppose Mr. Lane's election to Congress, has assumed that Mr. Lane's position was that of the politicians who put him on the track. We have no disposition to deal unfairly with Mr. Lane. Though we oppose his election to congress, and believe the sentiments of the people of this state would be better represented and their interests better subserved by the election of Mr. Warren, we do not propose to knowingly use any unfair means to secure his election. It is due to Mr. Lane and to fairness, in view of the course we have pursued toward him, to say that in his speech at Albany he expressly and emphatically declared himself opposed "to any sectarian distribution or division of the common school fund."

THE GALAXY for October has something for all classes of cultured readers. "Leah: A Woman of Fashion," and "Dear Lady Disdain," are continued, and there are two or three little bits of verse that are pleasant. This number has a greater amount of "solid" reading in it than is generally found in the Galaxy. Of this class are "Claims to the Discovery of America," by John T. Short, "The Napoleon of History," by Greenville Murray, and "Octave Feuillet," by Albert Rhodes, each of which is excellent. Richard Grant White has a paper on "English Pronunciation," which is admirable in spite of the strong Richard Grant White flavor that pervades it quite as much as is necessary.

The Washington Republic presents a list of the duplicated and reduplicated names in the 44th Congress, showing that in this respect the approaching session will surpass any of its predecessors. There are seven Williamses, three Harrises, and two each of the Bayleys, Bakers, Browns, Burchards, Caldwells, Camerons, Clarks, Hamiltons, Hewitts, Joneses, Landers, Mackeys, Phillipses, Reilleys, Robbinses, Rosses, Smiths, Townsends, Vances, Walkers, Wallaces, Wilsons, and Woods.

Our Democratic neighbor says the Democratic party of Pennsylvania by its platform "has rebuked the ring of that state, and declared it will have nothing to do with naught but honest men and honest administration." The Democratic politicians will probably enter no protest against the grammar of that announcement, but they are sure to make a noise if there is any attempt to carry out the principle laid down, as it would necessitate the selection of officers from some other crowd.

Announcement is made that the opening of the new Bank of California is definitely fixed for Monday, October 4th. Louis McLane will be the manager and N. K. Masten cashier. Already there has has been subscribed to the guarantee fund the sum of $7,500,000, and there is no longer any doubt of the success of the new arrangement. The National Gold Bank of San Francisco, which suspended the day after the failure of the Bank of California, is in full operation again.

Mr. W. W. Baker says it is not true that the challenge he made for a race on "Foster" was made without due consultation with the owners, and that he made the challenge upon the authority of Woodson Scoggins, one of the owners of "Foster."

The Lane organs are still harping on the assumed fact that some twenty years ago Hon. Henry Warren was in a Know-nothing lodge. They seem perfectly oblivious of the fact that only half of twenty years ago Mr. Lane was a secessionist.

If the Journal chooses to indulge in the vulgarity of calling an adverse party's candidate a "fool" and the like, nobody can gainsay its right to adopt that style of argument.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 28, 1875.

CITY.

TIMBER ON FIRE—LINE DOWN.—Owing to the heavy fire which has been raging for some days in the timber east of the city, the O. S. N. Co.'s line has been prostrate. Last Saturday Mr. Henry Wilmer was sent out to put up the line, but returned late in the evening, having accomplished but little. He reported that the fire was raging fiercely over a large extent of country. For a distance of five or six miles he found the fire burning along the base line of road. In places where the timber was tall, the fire had climbed to the tops of the trees, and the roar of the flames could be heard a long ways off. All the farmers were "up and in arms," and fighting the fire like tigers. Unless the progress of the destroyer is soon checked there will doubtless be great destruction of property in that section. The fire started on the east side of Sandy, but the wind was so strong that it crossed that stream and began its destructive ravages on this side. Yesterday the line was down, and notwithstanding a party was sent out for the purpose of putting the wire up, no messages were got through.

WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS—DETAINED.—By a private telegram it is learned that just prior to the sailing of the steamer Oriflamme from San Francisco last Saturday, Dan Smith, the accused mail robber, arrested a few weeks ago in Texas by Postal Agent Underwood, and who was en route to Fullerton, and, who was en route to this city in custody of the captors, was taken from the vessel on a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. Underwood assures a gentleman of this city that there has been no irregularities in any of the proceedings thus far had relative to the arrest of Smith, and there exists no grounds whatever for the issuance of a writ of habeas corpus—or, at least, no reasons for sustaining the same, and that it will be dismissed beyond doubt by the court. He claims that the proceeding was instigated by some San Francisco shyster for the dual object of procuring delay and getting money out of Smith. Prisoner and captors will doubtless arrive on the next steamer.

SOUNDING THE BAR.—The Gussie Telfair arrived at Astoria last week from Victoria and Sound ports, and instead of proceeding on to Portland was employed by the pilots to make the necessary soundings about the bar. The Columbia river bar has not been sounded for some time, and as the wind and tide are causing the sands to constantly shift, and the channel to more or less change, it is deemed important to the shipping interests of these ports that the waters about the mouth of the river should be sounded at stated periods. It being necessary that the soundings should be done at once, and as the Gussie Telfair was the most available steamer, she was engaged. Since Friday the bar pilots have been employed in "heaving the lead" pretty lively. The work is doubtless completed ere this writing, and the steamer will probably reach here to-day.

THE HORSE MAZEPPA HURT.—From the La Grande Sentinel we learn that Messrs. Rockwell & Hurlburt met with the sad misfortune on last Saturday to get their beautiful and valuable horse, Mazeppa, hurt, while leading him from here to Summerville. It seems he stepped in a badger hole and sprained his shoulder so severely that they were unable to give a satisfactory exhibition of his wonderful training at Summerville, which caused much dissatisfaction, and three or four who had taken lessons demanded and received their money back.

DEAD.—A postal card from Silverton, dated Sept. 26th, conveys the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. Jas. A. Wright, of that place, on Sunday morning at 5 o'clock. Mr. Wright had been quite ill for some time with typhoid fever, but was reported convalescent a short time ago, and his death was very sudden and unexpected. Deceased was postmaster at Silverton. He was a good citizen, a gentleman whose public and private reputation was above reproach. His sudden departure from the walks of life is greatly regretted.

FARM SOLD.—Mr. A. B. Richardson returned to the city yesterday from his trip to Buena Vista, Polk county, whither he went a few days ago to sell a piece of land. He informs us that he succeeded in disposing of the property at very fair figures. The property consisted of 100 acres, which was sold for $3,400 averaging $34 per acre. This can be regarded as a good figure, considering the fact that the land is without any improvements whatever.

STATE GRANGE.—To-day at 10 o'clock A. M. the State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, will convene at Good Templar Hall, corner of Alder and Third streets, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before that body. Oregon, Washington and Idaho Territories are included in the district, and about 200 granges are expected to be represented.

RETURNED.—The Roseburg Plaindealer of the 25th says: "Mr. Geo. E. Aiken returned from Utapaiaka, Hawaiian Islands, to his old home at Winchester Tuesday morning last. Mr. Aiken looks natural and jovial as ever. He is a young man of enterprise, and we welcome him among us again." Mr. Aiken arrived in Portland yesterday morning on the express train, and is now sojourning in the city.

CATTLE SOLD.—Two men arrived in the city on Saturday evening driving a band of beef cattle, numbering 52 head. These cattle came from Happy valley, about ninety miles from The Dalles, and were driven across the Cascades by way of the Barlow gate road. They were in splendid condition, and the owners disposed of every hoof at round figures without ever dismounting from their horses.

STOP AT STARK-STREET CROSSING.—For the accommodation of the public, the early and late train going to and from the Hillsboro fair during the present week, will stop each day at the intersection of Fourth and Stark streets. Pers

Wide Awake sends the following personal and otherwise

Miss Mary Robinson formerly a student of the Willamette University is visiting friends and relatives in the city

The Willamette Collegian a new monthly paper under the auspices of the Willamette University, made its first appearance on Saturday last It is a very neat affair, and shows marked ability in both literary and typographical appearance

A well known typo formerly of your city but more recently of the Mercury reportorial staff will on Tuesday evening lead to the hymeneal alter one of Salem's fairest daughters and most accomplished vocalists and pianists In advance of the ceremony we wish the young couple lifelong happiness The wedding will be a quiet recherché affair held at the residence of the bride's mother

The inaugural sociable of the Gleaner's Dime Society of the M E Church took place at the residence of Hon A A McCully, on Saturday evening last. Their large and elegantly furnished house was literally crowded with the fashion and elite of the city and it proved one of the pleasantest affairs of the season The fair young hostess Miss Lizzie McCully exerted herself to make every one feel at home and those present were highly pleased with the pleasures of the hour

A tune composed mostly of members of the Aldine Club under the leadership of Capt Peebles threw down the gauntlet to any picked nine in the city for a series of games best two in three The challenge was at once accepted by Capt McCully, of the College Club, and the first game was played on the Aldine grounds last Saturday afternoon Contrary to the expectations of many, and to the evident chagrin of the heretofore victorious Aldines the College boys scooped them in to the tune of 40 to 21 The victors were in excellent trim and played a red hot game right through Clayborn Walker umpired the game to the satisfaction of both clubs The return game will probably be played on Saturday next

THE TURF.

From what the papers in Eastern Oregon have to say with reference to the intended movements of Mr Geo Coggan, it would appear that lovers of turf sports on the west side of the Cascades are to be deprived of witnessing Osceola compete with Webfoot horses for the championship of the running 'sod," the present season Speaking of the matter an exchange says We have no authority for making any positive statements at the present time but this much we do know and can state without any breach of confidence reposed in us Mr Coggan notified the secretary of the State Agricultural Society some time ago that as the society had only offered a purse of $300 to be contended for by horses not raised in Oregon that he could not afford to come to Salem and take the chances for that amount but that if the society would offer a purse of $500 and require an entrance fee of not less than $200 to go with the purse he would bring his horse to Salem He also gave notice that he would hold himself in readiness to start to Salem if notified that the purse would be hung on or before Sunday, October 10 otherwise he would conclude to remain here' So thus the matter rests

BUSINESS NOTICES.

"What is home without a mother?" sounds very well in poetry, but, practically speaking, right minded people say, 'What is home without a sewing machine?' A good sewing machine is an indispensable piece of furniture about a well regulated house Wheeler & Wilson's justly celebrated machines are warranted to give perfect satisfaction Before purchasing a machine, call at the Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Company No 95 Third street They have machines suitable for all kinds of work from sewing a piece of muslin to heavy leather

OREGON GRAINS

A MAGNIFICENT ARRAY OF GRAINS GROWN IN THE STATE ON EXHIBITION AT COL MOORES OFFICE IN THE O & C R R BUILDING—OREGON IS STILL AHEAD

One does not require stronger or more convincing evidence of the unsurpassed fertility of Oregon soil and the admirable adaptability of the climate to the production of all varieties of the cereal, than to examine specimens of grain raised in this State If any person is disposed to be sceptical upon this question, he has only to pay a visit to the office of Col I L Moores in the land department connected with the Oregon and California Rail road Company, and inspect the samples on exhibition there A most casual examination we warrant will dissipate all doubts as to the wonderful productiveness of this state

Availing of an invitation we called at Col Moores office yesterday morning for the purpose of personally inspecting the specimens of cereal there on exhibition On entering the office we could not refrain from expressions of surprise and admiration on observing the beautiful array of samples of the various grains carefully and systematically arranged about the room Each sample was labeled giving the variety where grown average yield per acre and name of the person by whom it was raised Arranged in regular order upon a long table were a number of specimens of cereals which had been threshed out and enclosed in small sacks

The first small bag contained a sample of white or spring rye grown by Mr P L Castleman, of Yamhill county The grains are all large plump and well developed and the yield per acre although not stated on the label must have been far above the average Mr James Stanley of Marion county, has on exhibition a small sack of white wheat which for size and quality will not compare unfavorably with any grain of similar variety that we have ever seen In another sack was a very handsome sample of 'surprise oats, raised on the farm of Mr Henry Carter of Marion county the bare sight of which was quite sufficient to make the mouth of the average cuitan 'water' Next in the row was a specimen of Bogue's or "potato oats' also raised by Mr Henry Carter This variety could not be surpassed anywhere for size and plumpness of grain—average yield per acre was 60 bushels and average weight per bushel 48 pounds Mr J M Davis of Polk county also has on exhibition a small quantity of white Chile club' wheat which would be hard to surpass in any country The average yielded per acre of this wheat was 51 bushels In the last sack of the row we found a sample of white velvet' wheat, raised on the farm of Mr Powers, of Linn county This variety is without exception the most handsome grain we have seen in the state and the yield per acre is said to be very large Across the eastern end of the room were strung in cord various kinds of grain all in the straw The first bunch of grain was common white wheat, raised on the farm of Mr W J Herren on Salem prairie in Marion county There is one somewhat remarkable feature connected with the grain The ground on which it was raised has been continuously in cultivation since 1848 with the exception of three seasons, during which it was summer fallowed Subtracting three years the time the ground was lying idle we find that the soil has produced 24 crops of grain in as many years which will serve to indicate its great fertility The average yield the present season was 46½ bushels per acre Length of the stalks 5½ feet The next bunch came from Col Moore's farm in Lane county and was raised by Mr W J Hill It is a beautiful specimen of grain Average length of straw 5 feet average yield per acre not mentioned The variety is known as Chile club wheat Mr C P Burkhart, of Linn county, has on exhibition several varieties of grain among which we note the following 'Antoka' (a Hungarian species of bearded wheat which is said to fill well on wet and flat lands) 'Chile club, a large variety having well developed heads, long stalks and plump grains, averaging 40 bushels to the acre, "white rye, with stalks 5 feet high 'Canada white' and 'golden amber' wheat, both splendid samples. Mr T L Davidson who lives near Salem, on the Oak Hill farm' has on exhibition a magnificent bunch of 'white wheat' which yielded handsomely to the acre We challenge any state in the Union to produce a finer specimen of grain than that raised on Mr Davidson's farm The average yield was 50 bushels per acre A large handsome bunch of millet and several specimens of flax occupied a prominent place among the grains on exhibition and challenged admiration The millet was raised in Linn county and the flax on the farm of Parrish & Miller near Jefferson Marion county The flax measures 4½ feet in length Several bunches of hops—beautiful samples—were hung in different parts of the room which furnished additional proof of the fertility of Oregon soil and the excellence of our climate These bunches were raised in Polk and Lane counties and Southern Oregon Dr W B Majors of French Prairie forwarded to Col Moores a large bunch of side oats and a sample of fall wheat the stalks of which are 6 feet long that are on exhibition A fine bunch of white wheat heads was observed, which came from the farm of Mr M P Davis on the North Yamhill also another bunch raised on the farm of Mr Smith in the same county A number of specimens of wheat were noted which came from Umpqua—name of raisers unknown Beautiful samples of oats were observed grown by Mr Reuben Davis of Marion Station and Mr George Shambrook near Oakland Douglas county Concluding the list of grains and grasses was a small bunch of the Johnson grass which grows in such wonderful abundance on the plains of Texas Mexico and New Mexico The grass was raised by W C Moyer, of Ashland, in Jackson county It is about two feet high and bears considerable resemblance to the common blue grass with the exception that the stalks are finer and have a wire like appearance The musquit grass flourishes best in a hot dry climate but judging from the specimen on exhibition there is good reason for the conclusion that it can be grown successfully in Oregon In connection, we would advise any and all persons who entertain doubts about the great grain resources of this state to drop in at Col Moores office and inspect the specimens there on exhibition Such an array of grains on exhibition at the coming Centennial will do more toward advertising the state than any other means which can be employed for that purpose

A Popular Error Corrected

It is an absurd but very common error to suppose that a disordered condition of the liver can be remedied by a simple cathartic Such is, however far from being the case cathartics do not touch the liver at all It is only when as in the case of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters the laxative principle is combined with tonic and stimulative elements that the great secretive gland is directly acted upon The Bitters although sufficiently laxative to relieve the bowels moderately do not owe their active billious effects to purgation merely but to their power of rousing the liver from its inaction and impelling it to secrete and distribute the bile in sufficient quantities for the purposes of digestion and evacuation Its effect upon the stomach and bowels is such as to ensure the regular discharge of the functions named and prevent abstruction or vitiation of the biliary fluid—in other words, to secure entire co operation with the liver

Under advices from San Francisco, of a strong tendency in financial affairs toward an easier condition, strengthened by the expected release of a very large amount of capital by the opening of two new banks and the resumption of business by the Bank of California, matters in our home market are beginning to assume a more cheerful aspect, and October will set in with a more favorable outlook than we have been able to discover since the close of the spring trade.

From the latest report of the comptroller of the U. S. treasury some curious facts in the finances of the country are gathered. Among them is that of an almost stationary condition of the national banks for the last five years in the middle states. Including, as they do, the financial and commercial center of the country, and the prosperous cities of Philadelphia and Baltimore, it might be supposed the figures for this group of states would reflect whatever growth has occurred in the trade of the nation at large. But the fact is, that while the West and South combined have about doubled their banking resources and operations, the middle states have increased their capital only 1.26 per cent, and their deposits but 9.38 per cent, while their circulation has been reduced 8.12 per cent. The loans and discounts, however, have been increased 24.14 per cent.

Wheat Crops and Markets.

The duties of the county assessors in the state requiring them to take the census of the inhabitants also requires them to collect statistics of all farm products, stock, etc. Their figures, when completed, will form, perhaps, the best basis on which an estimate of the crops can be made. So far, only a few counties, four or five in number, have reported. Taking these as a starting point we can approximate more closely than in any other way the total amount of wheat raised in the State. The four counties from which reports are before us are as follows: Marion, 865,731 bushels; Lane, 850,418 bushels; Polk, 602,047 bushels; Washington, 306,029 bushels; total, 2,524,225 bushels. Linn county will probably return one and a quarter million bushels, Benton as much as 200,000; Yamhill, 350,000 bushels; Clackamas, 100,000, and Douglas, 400,000; making the total product of this valley and Douglas county about 4,825,000 bushels, to which that of Eastern Oregon and Walla Walla, the surplus of which is marketed through this port, and the total product will not fall far short of 6,000,000 bushels. This has all been saved, with very few exceptions, in good condition and that which finds its way to the world's markets will meet with favor among buyers.

The damage to the wheat crop in Minnesota by the rains during the last part of August, from dispatches received at Milwaukee by the agents of the Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, from sections covering three-fourths of the area of that State, show that the damage has been much less than was feared during the prevalence of the storm. The damage will not be over one-fifth of what the first accounts estimated. It is placed now at no more than 5 to 8 per cent in the deterioration of quality and actual loss, and the actual loss may turn out even less than this.

The movement eastward from lake ports the four weeks ended Sept. 4 was 5,275,950 bushels of wheat; 2,818,367 bushels of corn; 2,092,278 bushels of oats; 117,222 bushels of barley; 76,835 bushels of rye; and 376,014 bbls. of flour—equal to 15,266,722 bushels per month.

The visible supply of wheat, comprising the stocks in granary, at the principal points of accumulation at Lake Erie and seaboard ports, and in transit by rail, September 4, 1875, was 16,440,919 bushels against 16,879,469 bushels on the corresponding date last year, and 23,909,338 bushels on the 6th of Sept., 1873. The unprecedented movement of 1873 from the interior to the seaboard, and the shipments from thence to Europe, is being repeated only to a lighter extent.

There were in transit for the United Kingdom on the 28th of August, 1875, 1,031,117 qrs against 595,532 qrs at the corresponding date in 1874. The stock on the New York canals on the 8th of September, was 754,463 bushels. There is on the lakes a fair amount. The New York Bulletin says: The movement towards the United Kingdom from all parts of the world has been too free for the profit of the shippers, resulting in a downward movement in prices, and, until checked, the tendency will be from bad to worse in regard to values."

In 1871, the wheat crop of that year in the United Kingdom was estimated by Mr. James Caird at 11 million qrs., with 10 million qrs. of foreign required to meet the year's consumption. Mr. J. B. Lawes estimated for the same year, crop, wheat 11,200,000 quarters, and 11¼ million quarters requirements of foreign, while Mr. Thomas Case estimated the requirements of foreign for that year at 8½ million quarters. Mr. T. C. Scott estimated the crop of 1871 at 9,000,000 quarters, and the required imports of foreign 13,000,000 quarters.

The results were that for the crop year of 1871-72 9,765,200 qrs. of foreign wheat were imported into the United Kingdom, being very near Mr. Caird's estimate, but 3,000,000 qrs., or nearly 25 per cent, below Mr. Scott's estimate, and 2,500,000 under that of Mr. Lawes' estimate, while it exceeded Mr. Case's figures by 1,250,000 qrs.

Mr. Thos. C. Scott estimates the wheat crop of 1875 in the United Kingdom at 9,625,000 qrs, with estimated requirements of foreign wheat equal to 13,500,000 qrs, which is a larger amount than has ever been imported.

On the 26th of August, 1875, the wheat in transit for the United Kingdom, exclusive of steamer shipments from American Atlantic ports, and sail and steamer shipments from the Baltic, was 122 cargoes to direct ports and 173 cargoes to ports of call, embracing in the former two and the latter six vessels from Oregon. The whole number of bushels of wheat in transit at the date named was 9,009,606 against 4,987,953 bushels at the corresponding date last year. These figures give an idea of the enormous increase in the recent receipts noticed at Liverpool, and constitute one of the prime reasons for the late decline in prices in the face of short crops in many of the wheat-producing countries of the world.

Market Review.

We notice a good degree of activity in trade circles for Monday, which is not usually accounted an average day for business. Buyers from the interior are investigating matters in time and preparing to lay in their fall stocks. Importations recently opened out by wholesale and jobbing houses display well, and are generally selected more carefully with reference to the wants of the trade. Dry goods are moving in greater volume than before for some time, and dealers feel somewhat encouraged over the prospects of the business for the autumn. Agricultural goods of a seasonable character are also in fair request, and the full stocks in the hands of leading houses enable purchasers to satisfy themselves in the matter of prices and patterns. Groceries are generally in full supply and prices are firm at the usual figures. Coffees, syrups, teas, salt, and most other leading staples are in moderate demand. Sugars are plentiful except Sandwich Island brands desirable for the trade, which are wanted. The cargo of the Mattie Macleay, was sold before it came out of the vessel, and more might have been placed at full rates.

Domestic produce is generally unchanged from prices given last week, though we notice a manifest tendency to lower rates in the wheat market. Sales have been made in the past few days at Cornelius at 90c per bushel, and at Albany at 85c without sacks, while others have done a little better here, selling at $1 per bushel or $1 05 per cental sacked.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Gout, Stomach and Bowel, Liver-complaint, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Billiousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood are the most complete that can be perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

FOR THE SPEEDY RELIEF OF

Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

Has been widely used during the last twenty-five years. In the treatment of these distressing diseases, and with such unvarying success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. The shakes—a chill, succeeded by fever, then by sweating, etc., which, when taken in time, this remedy will cure, and if the disease is contracted again. This has made it an accepted remedy, and trusted specific, for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South.

Ayers' Ague Cure eradicates the noxious poison from the system, and leaves the patient as well as before the attack. It thoroughly expels the disease, so that no Liver Complaint, Dumb Ague, Neuralgia, Dysentery or Debility follow the cure. Indeed, where Disorders of the Liver and Bowels have occurred from Miasmatic Poison, it removes the cause of them and they disappear. Not only is it an effectual cure, but if taken occasionally by patients exposed to malaria it will expel the poison and protect them from attack. Travelers and temporary residents in Fever and Ague localities are thus enabled to defy the disease. The General Debility which is so apt to ensue from continued exposure to Malaria and Miasm, has no speedier remedy.

For Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy.
